Research Society for Victorian Periodicals

RSVP exists to foster interdisciplinary scholarship on all aspects of the 19th-century press. The Society offers a friendly, collegial home for all literary scholars, historians, and others whose studies take them into the fascinating world of Victorian newspapers and magazines. RSVP's quarterly journal, the Victorian Periodicals Review, is the place to publish and to learn about the latest developments in the vibrant and rapidly expanding field of C19 media studies.

RSVP sponsors several fellowships and prizes, and annually holds one of the most welcoming and informative academic conferences around. To join us and receive the VPR, visit the Society's website at www.rs4vp.org or email membership@rs4vp.org for more information.
