10:26:19 From Tarini Bhamburkar : Reacted to "Thanks for the plug, Tarini! " with 10:32:21 From Priti Joshi : or their great grand children!

10:35:00 From JESSE Cordes Selbin : Based on this elaboration by Sourav and on how Tarini discussed similar theories of the periodical as a medium, I wondered if she (Tarini) might elaborate on some of the medium-specific features that distinguish Marathi periodicals? (This new work sounds fascinating!)

10:38:38 From Michael de Nie : I need to run to a meeting. Thanks to all of the speakers for fascinating discussion!

10:40:46 From Sourav Chatterjee : Replying to "I need to run to a m..."

Thank you for the question Michael.

10:40:48 From JESSE Cordes Selbin : Thanks—that's all super interesting!

10:40:56 From Tarini Bhamburkar : Reacted to "Thanks—that's all super interesting!" with 10:51:25 From Daniel Roberts : Nilkanta was talking about local resources - smaller libraries etc in India which preserve their periodical materials. Sounds fascinating! Could he (and the others) tell us more about these lesser known resources - any gems worth knowing about? Any attempts to list these nationally?

10:52:30 From Ardyn Tennyson : @Tarini Bhamburkar, who was the theorists that discussed archival loss? Sorry I missed who you said.

10:52:45 From Tarini Bhamburkar : Replying to "@Tarini Bhamburkar, ..."

Anjali Arondekar!

10:52:53 From Ardyn Tennyson : Reacted to "Anjali Arondekar!" with

10:53:06 From Tarini Bhamburkar : Replying to "@Tarini Bhamburkar, ..."

I can't remember the exact name of her work but it is on sexuality in the colonial archive!

10:54:15 From Ardyn Tennyson : Okay I will look it up sounds so interesting thank you!
